ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

KANSAS CITY, KANSAS
TELEPHONE 1234 WEST

May 25, 1909.

DEAR SIR:—

Replying to your letter of the 4th inst. relative to the Rock Asphalt pavement now being laid in this city, will say that we have some of this pavement that has been down OVER TEN YEARS and with the exception of a few places where water has not been properly drained off and allowed to stand, it has stood heavy traffic and is still in a good state of preservation.

We have 15 miles of other asphalt which has had to be repaired a great deal, while this pavement, except for plumbers cuts, Gas Co., and Water Co's. cuts has had NO REPAIRS AT ALL.

Some of the streets of Kansas City, Mo., have been paved with this material and they are in better condition than some sheet asphalt streets that have been paved later, after being down 15 years.

Last season there were laid in this city 22,000 sq. yds. of Rock Asphalt and this year there is being laid and petitioned for about twice as much more, which ought to show that it is giving satisfaction here.

When the wearing surface is first put down it is sometimes disappointing to the inexperienced as it appears much more granular than the ordinary asphalt and has surface cracks after being rolled; but with a little traffic over it the cracks disappear and the whole cements together into one solid sheet, without becoming too hard or slippery. After the cement or lime dust has worn off the surface the particles of lime rock show white, giving a pleasing "mosaic" effect.

The material used in this city comes from Ardmore, Oklahoma.

Yours respectfully,
R. L. McALPINE,
City Engineer, Kansas City, Kansas.

This is the standard Rock Asphalt pavement composed of lime, rock asphalt, consolidated silica, and bituminous silica, produced by THE SHELBY-DOWNARD ASPHALT CO.

The Chapman Wood Yard has plenty of good wood on hand, dry and green. Orders given prompt attention. Big load $1.50. Back of court house. 166-tf

RAILROAD AMENDMENT WINS BY GOOD MAJORITY.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 14.—Out of the official returns from fifty-seven counties the local option bill got 70-199 votes, and there were cast against it 89,470, showing its defeat on its own vote of 19,280 votes. These figures are right off the reel in the office of the state election board, and were given out a sofficial Tuesday afternoon by Secretary Seth K. Cordon.

At the time these figures were being obtained a representative of the "wet crowd" walked into the office of the state election board and asked for the "latest official information." He got exactly the same figures as are presented in this article.

While the "wet crowd" representative was in the office of Secretary Seth K. Cordon he was asked: "On what do you people base the claim made from day to day that the local option bill was adopted?"

His reply was: "We base our claim on returns we have received at headquarters."

The official returns on the railroad amendment, out of fifty-two counties heard from, are: For the amendment, 59,367; against 41,359.

The New Jerusalem question received, out of fifty-seven counties heard from 61,856 votes, with 86,581 against.

The school tax amendment, out of fifty-nine counties heard from, received 33,644 votes, with 73,364 against.

Out of the fifty-nine counties heard from on the gubernatorial race, Lee Cruce got 89,080 votes, and McNeal got 71,071.

The total vote cast in the state, as far as indicated by returns received in the office of the state election board, is about 181,000, with twenty counties to be heard from.

Notice of Dissolution.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between B. L. McKinley and R. S. Tobin has been dissolved by mutual consent, R. S. Tobin retiring. All just claims due from the old firm will be paid by the undersigned, and all accounts due it will be payable to me.

ROBIN COOPER IS ACQUITTED

SLAYER OF CARMACK SET FREE BY STATE'S ATTORNEY.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 15.—Robin B. Cooper, charged with the murder of Senator Edward Carmack, was given a verdict of not guilty in the criminal court this morning on recommendation of Attorney General A. B. Anderson. Thus was brought to a close the final chapter in one of the most celebrated cases known to the annals of the courts of Tennessee. In striking contrast to the scenes marking the first trial of this case, when the court room was packed almost to suffocation by those eager to hear every word of the evidence, there were only a few persons present. Counsel were probably the only persons there particularly on account of the case.

Robin Cooper came into the court room some minutes before the time for the court to convene and took a seat at the table behind the railing. About half an hour later his counsel, Judge J. M. Anderson, Gen. W. H. Washington, Charles N. Burch Judge M. H. Meeks and Judge J. C. Bradford, entered the court room and took seats at the table. There was no counsel associated with Attorney General Anderson for the state and he stated in recommending the verdict of not guilty that no human being had said one word to him in connection with any prosecution during the two and one-half months that he had been attorney general.

Vernon H. Sharp, clerk of the criminal court, called the case of Robin J. Cooper about 9:30 o'clock, after several minor matters had been before the court.

Jury is Empaneled.

Attorney General Anderson stated that he would like to have a jury for the disposition of this case and jury No. 1 was called. The twelve men filed into the jury box. There was complete silence in the court room as the Attorney general arose to address the court and said he had a recommendation in this case to make to the court:

"Your honor is probably familiar with this case," said the Attorney General. "This defendant, Col. Duncan B. Cooper, and John Sharp were indicted jointly for the murder of Senator Carmack. The case came up for trial and resulted in the acquittal of Sharp. Col. Cooper and this defendant were found guilty of murder in the first degree. The supreme court affirmed the case of Col. Cooper, but as to this defendant there was a reversal."

Judge A. B. Neil then stated to the jury that in view of the statement of the Attorney General, the sworn officer of the state, and in view of the further fact that there is no further effort made to prosecute the case, the jury would return a verdict of not guilty, which was accordingly done.

Counsel for the defense had nothing to say during the proceedings and at the conclusion Col. Washington arose and stated to the court that according to the edict of the court they would retire. The defendant left the court room with his counsel.

Senator Carmack was killed on Seventh avenue in this city on the evening of Nov. 9, 1908.

Two Killed as Season Opens.

Cleveland, Nov. 15.—Two men were killed and six seriously injured as the result of the opening of the rabbit shooting season yesterday. One of the dead and five of the wounded were accidentally shot by comrades.

John Hoffman, 21 years of age, of Mansfield, O., died when the side of his head was blown off by Harry Bride, a companion. Homer Yankie, 15 years of age, Elmville, O., fell in crossing a fence with the result that his gun exploded, mortally wounding him.

Albert Becker of Canal Dover, O., who was accidentally shot by his brother Herbert, probably will die.

Goat Kills Horse.

Yesterday, a goat, R. L. McGuyre, kept on his premises attacked and killed a fine mare belonging to Mr. McGuyre. As a means of preventing more damage by the fighting animal, he sawed off both horns.

CAPITAL STAYS AT GUTHRIE

SUPREME COURT HOLDS ELECTION ILLEGAL.

ENABLING ACT VOID

Haskell May Call Special Session of the Legislature to Remove Capitol.

Guthrie, Ok., Nov. 15.—Oklahoma City's initiated bill proposing to change the state government from Guthrie to that city placed to a vote of the people on June 11, last, was not legally submitted, the supreme court held today in an opinion written by vice-Chief Justice Turner, the effect of which was to declare that Guthrie is still the capital of Oklahoma.

The court also held that the congressional enabling act, is so far as it restricted the state's action on the state capital question prior to 1913, was not binding. It not only ruled that congress had no power to impose such condition, but that the congressional convention was without authority to agree to it. However, the convention's ordinance accepting terms and conditions of the enabling act became a law of the state remaining in force until repealed the same as any other law.

Had the initiated act of June 11 been legally submitted and adopted the court holds the convention's ordinance in that respect would have been revoked; but since it was not, then the attempted removal is invalid, and likewise falls everything initiated bill proposed to do.

The court did not pass upon the question whether the late act which proposed to accomplish fifteen separate things, was fatal for that reason.

Opipion Was Unanimous.

In conclusion, the opinion was a unanimous one. Justice Kane, however, dissented as to the holding on the enabling act, believing that its acceptance was an agreement which is binding until relieved by the consent of the other party (the United States), or expires by limitation. A majority of the court, Chief Justice Dunn, Associate Justices Williams and Hayes, while agreeing with the vice-Chief Justice that the enabling act ha sonly the binding effect of a statute law, dissents from the reasoning upon which conclusions are reached in regard to the initiated bill.

Defeat of Oklahoma City's contention before the court today may be said to be purely technical but from which there is no appeal for either side. While not expressly saying so, the opinion makes it plain that the convention's ordinance is not a part of the constitution, hence a constitutional amendment is not necessary in legislating upon the question. Another initiated act, or an act of the legislature may, under the court's view of the law, repeal the section of the convention ordinance, so long as such action is not in conflict with the constitution of the United States and, it follows, locate the seat of government where it chooses.

Special Session of Legislature.

A statement accredited to W. A. Ledbetter of Oklahoma City, author of the initiated bill referred to, is to the effect that the governor would convene the legislature in special session for the purpose of passing a bill that would transfer the capitol to Oklahoma City.

In reaching its conclusions the court recites that the Oklahoma enabling act placed certain matters before the constitutional convention which the latter could either adopt or reject, one of them being that the capital should remain here in Guthrie until 1913. The convention agreed to the ordinance, and, in doing so, the court holds, was speaking for the whole people of the proposed state, and was exercising the highest order of the law-making or legislative power. Ratification by the electors was not necessary to make the agreement binding as a statute law (cites Benner vs. Porter, ninth Howard, 2,351, and Frantz vs. Autry, Eighteenth Oklahoma, 561.)

The law thus placed upon the statute books, the court says, remains in force until repealed. It will not do, the opinion recites, to say that in adopting the provision submitted by congress, that the right to change it was taken away from the state by the constitutional convention's act, for in Sec. 1 of the bill of rights it says the people expressly reserved authority to repeal the law whenever the public good required it; also, when Oklahoma became a part of the federal union, it likewise became possessed of all rights of dominion and original states, standing upon an sovereignty which belonged to the original states, standing upon an equal footing with them in all respects whatever. The court adds:

"The idea that the state is admitted with the privilege of repealing its laws to conform to the wishes of its people is so repugnant to equality under the constitution that we can not believe congress intended it. But if it did, and by said act and ordinance irrevocable an attempt was made to fasten upon the state a law irrepealable before 1913, such an attempt is ineffectual."

The court holds that the state would have no power to surrender nor the federal government power to accept a surrender of the municipal rights of sovereignty thus attempted to be surrendered as a condition precedent to admission into the union, hence, it says, the attempted surrender would be void. The right to remove the capital of a state pursuant to an act of the lawmaking power of the state is a political right which the state is powerless to barter away by compact or otherwise (Tucker on constitutions).

Ballot Title Defective.

As to the bill itself, the court holds

THE CORONATION OF QUEEN OKLAHOMA.

There was a stir in the large family of Uncle Sam this day three years ago when that fine old gentleman announced to the world that Oklahoma, his forty-fifth daughter, had reached her years of discretion and was to make her debut. Uncle Sam had been slow in permitting her to take her rightful place among her sisters, but at last he recognized his paternal duty and was ready to accord his youngest daughter the rights of majority. It was a great event in her life, and young Oklahoma, flushed with the red blood of all her healthy and well disciplined youth made ready to take her place among her forty-four sisters. There had been some displays of jealousy among these, but the young queen bore no malice and was in a forgiving mood clad in her most gorgeous robes, she stepped forth clinging to the arm of her proud father. All American girls are queens, you know, and as she was escorted through the crowd of admiring guests to her throne, expressions of admiration were heard on every hand. The homage paid the happy young sovereign of the great Southwest was sincere and well merited. The congratulations showered upon her were from the depths of the hearts of her well wishers.

No reign ever began more auspiciously. The new queen had already selected Charley Haskell as prime minister of her realm, and right zealously did he enter upon the work of safe-guarding her interests. However there is never a day so sunny but some cloud appears, and so it was with Queen Oklahoma. There were some among her subjects who jealous of her prime minister and his associates, hesitated not to besmirch even the good name of their sovereign. She did not forget or forgive these detractors, and just a week ago administered a stern rebuke to them and in token of her displeasure, ordered them seated farther away from the foot of her throne than ever. They are still rebellious, but with Lee Cruce as her chief officer of state, no harm can come to her from these malcontents.

Today resting her feet on the banks of Red River, her flowing locks spreading over the corn fields of the north, one hand resting on the western prairies where the billows of the wind blown wheat fields resemble the waves of the sea, the other in the oil fields and timber belt of the east, while in her lap are spread the products of the cotton field and all the bounty a generous nature can bestow, the queen is even more lovely and more glorious than on her coronation morning three years ago.

Long live our queen, and may her prosperity continue.

THREE YEARS AGO.

Verily time flies. It has been three years since amid great rejoicing we ushered in the new era of statehood. None of us will ever forget the celebration held at Ada. All day the town was filled with people who were eager to see the new officers take their places and the wheels of the machinery of state and county government set in motion. All day and far into the night orators poured forth their eloquence and had all the beautiful dreams they conjured up had been realized, the millenium would have been ushered in along with statehood. However, this could not be. We are only mortals after all, and although much progress has been made during the past three years, much remains to be done. Only the impractical and visionary man has had occasion to feel very badly disappointed with the past, and none but the pessimist looks forward with anything but supreme confidence in the growth and prosperity of Oklahoma.

"Impossible is a word found only in the vocabulary of fools" said Napoleon. Whenever some new invention is announced there scores who rise and declare its success is impossible, but the dream of today is the reality of tomorrow. While scoffers were declaring him to be crazy Cyrus W. Field laid the Atlantic cable. While scientists were busy explaining why the incandescent electric light was impossible, Edison strung them along the streets of all principal cities of the world. While men engaged in experimenting in aeronautics were being ridiculed as visionaries, the Wrights and others were soaring through the air in their machines, and today aviation meets are as common as auto races. What next? Well, we are free to confess that we haven't the slightest idea.

Wonder what has gone with the boll weevil? The little pest seems to have left Texas and Oklahoma and gone to other climes. Very little complaint was heard anywhere this season and good crops testify to the fact that the little pest has emigrated for a time at least

Later returns indicate that the railroad amendment which was thought to have been defeated, has carried. If this proves true there will be no further excuse for refusing to build new lines which the railroads themselves admit are badly needed.

NORMAL QUESTION

This morning Mr. E. C. Woodward, who is superintending the asphalt paving for the Shelby-Downard Co. at Ada and Holdenville, called on the News and gave his explanation of the little difference of opinion that seems to have arisen between his company and the city in reference to the kind of asphalt to be used on the Ada streets. He states that the idea that the company has any intention to discreit the Ada product is altogether erroneous. According to Mr. Woodward three kinds of asphalt must be used: the soft, the hard and asphalt limestone. The proper proportions are 80 per cent of the hard variety, and 10 per cent of each of the other kinds. At no point has all three been found. The pavement at Ardmore and other places has been made of the soft asphalt from Ardmore or Sulphur, hard from Love county and asphaltic limestone from Murray county. He says that at Ada only the hard variety is found and that if a good and creditable job of work is done the other two must be either found near here or else shipped in; that no one kind will give the best results. He has been in communication with the owners of some soft asphalt deposits near Fitzhugh, and that if these are found satisfactory the material from there will be used. He also stated that his company is shipping asphalt from the Ada mines to Holdenville and Paris, Tex., and will do the same when they begin work on the big contract at Oklahoma City. To sum it all up, the company insists that all it wants is to have the chance to give Ada a first class job and one that the company will not have reason to be ashamed of.

The Great Eastern Carnival Co. Visits Our City.

One of the best carnivals that we have had the pleasure of seeing came to our little city Monday and will be here the entire week. All of the shows are clean and moral in every sense of the word. Plenty of fun for the ladies and children as well as the gentlemen. The carnival is under the management of T. E. Kinkade, a gentleman that has been in the business the most of his life and understands, the show business thoroughly. The writer was a visitor at all of the shows and our opinion is that it is one of the best we have seen. Each and every one of the people with it are courteous and try their best to amuse and entertain you.—Hennessy Press-Democrat.

THE CAUSE OF COLDS.

Good Advice Regarding the Prevention of Coughs and Colds.

If people would only fortify and strengthen the system, the majority of cases of coughs, colds and pneumonia might be avoided. These troubles are frequently due to weakness which produces a catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, which is an internal skin of the body. When this skin is weakened it becomes easily infected with germs which cause many of the diseases to which flesh is heir. Healthy mucous membranes are essential safeguards of the body's general health.

We have a remedy which we honestly believe to be unsurpassed in excellence for the prevention of coughs, colds and all catarrhal conditions. It is the prescription of a famous physician, who has an enviable reputation of thirty years of cures gained through the use of this formula. We promise to make no charge for the medicine should it fail to do as we claim. We urge everybody who has need of such a medicine to try Rexall Mucu-Tone.

It stands to reason that we could not afford to make such statements and give our own personal guarantee to this remedy if we were not prepared to prove the reasonableness of our claim in every particular, and we see no reason why any one should hesitate to accept our offer and try it. We have two sizes of Rexall Mucu-Tone prices 50c and $1.00. Sometimes a 50-cent bottle is sufficient to give marked relief. As a general thing the most chronic case is relieved with an average of three large bottles. You can obtain Rexall Remedies in Ada only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Gwin & Mays Co.

that the ballot title did not properly submit the act to a vote of the people, and that while the question, "Shall the capital be located?" gave the voter opportunity to vote for or against one feature of the bill it afforded him no choice to vote for or against the bill as a whole. The court adds:

"To the conservative taxpayer, for instance, who took little interest in the capital controversy, but who came to the polls desiring to vote only against adoption of the bill on the ground, say, that it carried an appropriation of six hundred thousand dollars, there was no place on the ballot to register his vote.

After discussing other features of the act and the submission the court in conclusion says:

We are therefore of the opinion that the initiated bill failed of adoption for the reason that the same was not submitted to the electors at the polls for their adoption; that all the questions voted on fell with it, leaving no law on the statute books providing for the removal or furnishing procedure for holding an election for the submission to the electors of the state, the question of removal and permanent location of the capital of the state, and that as defendants were attempting, without authority of law, to change the capital of the state from Guthrie by removing there from to another place their offices and paraphernalia thereof, which change would involve an expenditure of public moneys, that an injunction will be to restrain such unauthorized conduct and finding no error in the judgment of the trial court granting said injunction, the action of the Logan county district court is affirmed."

Mark Twain's Prank.

"Among the many pranks of Mark Twain's journalistic days," said a Virginia City editor, "was the concoction of a speech that was put upon a famous senator. The senator had attended a Virginia City banquet, but had not spoken. He had a sore throat. A brother from a rival paper reached the banquet late. 'What did the senator speak about?' the newcomer whispered to Mark Twain. 'He made a very interesting speech on the potato,' was the reply. 'The potato, eh? That's odd. Let's have the points will you?' 'With pleasure,' said Mark Twain, and he dictated a half column that the reporter duly printed the next morning as the distinguished senator's valuable contribution for agricultural science. The speech began like this: 'Ladies and gentlemen, had it been my lot to be born and reared in Ireland, where my food would have principally consisted of the potato—that most salubrious and nutritious root—I should now be, instead of the poor, infirm, stunted creature you see before you, a tall, stout, athletic man, able to carry an enormous weight.'"

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do."

"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors.

"You don't know half how I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have."

Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

The afternoon at 3:30 the marriage of Mr. Robert Guest and Miss Mittie Barringer was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barringer, the parents of the bride, Rev. W. M. Wilson officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate family and a few special friends. Congratulations and felicitations having been showered upon them, the happy young couple took the Katy for Oklahoma City. From there they will go to Duncan to spend a few days with Mr. Guest's brother. They expect to return to Ada about the 23rd.

Of all the beautiful and accomplished young ladies of this town of exceptionally fine girls, none surpasses the bride of today. In spite of the attentions from a large circle of admiring friends, she has remained the same charming, well mannered young lady all the more attractive from that very fact.

The groom is a member of the hustling firm of Guest Bros. Every day since the firm took charge of the business, he has gained in the estimation of the public, and no other young man in Ada has a better reputation for being square and thoroughly moral than Robert Guest. He could have no business success on which he should be congratulated more warmly or sincerely than his success in winning the heart of the lady who has just become his bride.

Commission Form Popular.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 15.—At today's session of the National Municipal League, Clinton R. Woodruff of Pennsylvania, secretary of the league, declared the most conspicuous single development during the past year in the realm of city government to have been the continued rapid and widespread interest in the commission form of government and in the question of city charter reform generally.

These officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, William Foulke, Richmond, Indiana. treasurer, George Burnham, Jr., Philadelphia; secretary, Clinton Rogers, Woodruff, Philadelphia.

This will be his fourth year in that capacity, and under his direction the church interests have made most gratifying progress in this section. He is in town today looking for a house into which he can move, he having decided to make this his home instead of Holdenville.

Enid, Okla., Nov. 15.—State conference of Baptist minister of Oklahoma, which preceeds the annual convention of the church, was held here today with about 400 ministers and visiting Baptists in attendance.

The work of the convention proper will begin tomorrow morning after an organization has been effected by the selection of a successor to Judge Henry Furman, whose term as moderator expires, and the selection of a secretary hearing annual reports from different organizations of church and the selection of officers will occupy the major portion of the first day's session.

At the close of the meeting tonight 325 ministers and forty visitors had registered. By tomorrow night it is expected that fully 1,000 will be in attendance, which the leaders of the convention says will be the record attendance in the history of the church in the state.

The conference today was taken up in the work of the church in other states and the election of officers which resulted in the re-election of the Rev. Dr. Sutton, of Enid, president and T. B. Harrell of McAlester, secretary.

The devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. A. N. Hall of Muskogee. The feature of the conference was the address tonight by the Rev. C. S. Gardner, of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary of Louisville, Ky., who spoke on "The Authority of Jesus Christ in Religion." He was introduced by the Rev. Carter Helm Jones, of Oklahoma City. Dr. Gardner's address concluded the conference, The other speakers today besides the Rev. Gardner and the Rev. Jones were Dr. A. J. Holt, of Chickasha; E. B. Ford of Oklahoma City, secretary of the B. Y. P. U.; C. Stubblefield, of Ada, Okla., and J. N. Prestige of Louisville.

Why Manuel Lost Out.

What really cost Manuel the throne of Portugal was the "glaring anomaly" that royalty is not worth its cost in so poverty-stricken a land. The house of Braganza has no longer the vast wealth of Brazil to fall back upon, "yet it lives as if it owned all South America." The deposed king, it is hinted, had the characteristic extravagance of his house. Like his father before him, he had a passion for making presents. This weakness for giving away gold watches seemed to grow upon the king. He was indiscreet enough, we are told, to send a gold hatpin to an actress who sang prettily in a Paris cafe. Every newspaper on the boulevard had the news of it in its next edition.

The boy king had never talked to the girl in his life, but the boulevard press insisted that he was infatuated with her. Every ballet dancer in the French capital was soon boasting that the king had sent her a gold hatpin. A Parisian dancer vowed that Manuel had married her "morganatically," although she was old enough to be the mother of his majesty and had a daughter still living. Preposterous as the story was on its face, it was exploited in Portugal by the republicans and hurt the king with the masses.
